We can engineer your job!

Each Tank is custom designed by experienced personnel that have worked for wineries in operations for many years. Paso Robles Tank, Inc. understands wine-making and has employees that know how wineries work from harvesting to bottling. Paso Robles Tank, Inc. has an excellent in house engineering staff that designs and reviews all projects from conception to a finished product.

Value engineering is one of our goals at PRT and we are often involved early in the winery layout to help streamline flow of the operation. With the vast knowledge of our staff members here at PRT your ideas can become works of art that function properly.

PRT is committed to the Wine Industry for the proper design and construction of white wine storage tanks along with red fermenters. If you find yourself in the need for a Quality Wine Tank contact one of our salesmen or e-mail myself.
